GAZA AND ISRAEL

MR. Galill in the Knesset yes-MR. Gain in the Knesset yes-terday clarified in large seasure the Government's policy regarding the Gaza Strip. In Joing so, he helped dispel some if the questions which, rightly is wrongly, had arisen after his gatement to the House in March. Mr. Galili distinguished bethe Government's determination that Gaza not again be separated from Israel, and its legal integration into the State t this stage, that is in advance of peace. He pointed out, rightly, that most of the political forces in the country do not again wish to see Gaza revert to a foreign state and again become a possible base for aggression against Israel. At the same time the Government has refrained from bringing Gaza, and other territories, except Jerusalem, within the framework of Israel aw in order to avoid placing any obstacles in the way of egotiations for a peace agreement with our neighbours.

Mr. Galili was less clear on the ultimate status of the Gaza residents, confining himself to what he called his own personal opinion, which is that when Israel law does pertain in the Strip those persons who so wished would become citizens with equal rights. That Mr. Gallii termed this view his own polition indicates that on these ultimate issues the Cabinet has not yet made any decision.

But the Government's policy, by the very nature of the case, cannot be confined to final aims and final juridical resolutions. For the Gaza Strip is a living entity with living people for whom Israel is now responsible.

This situation has and will continue to have a dynamic of its own. And on this level both the residents of Gaza and Israel have embarked upon a policy of economic development and interaction which will be of mutual benefit. This cooperation, as it grows, will itself create the con-ditions that will ultimately gain expression in political form.

Our neighbours have, of course, assumed that having lost a war. they need not lose anything by it. They have also assumed that in refusing to negotiate, they would also lose nothing. But life cannot be frozen — and when that is attempted as the Egyptians sought to do in Gaza by maintaining it as a refugee enclave - the result is oppression.

policy, Israel's efforts to promote Gaza's economic development, is therefore both a humane imperative and consistent with its political aims for the Strip. That our neighbours cannot come to terms with these facts reflects not merely their continued enmity towards largel but their indifference to the human interests of the Gazans as well.

Humphrey in slim Ohio lead

NEW YORK (AP). - Senator Hubert Humphrey, a narrow victor over Alabama Governor George Wallace in the Indiana Democratic presidential preference primary on Tuesday, maintained a small lead over Senator George McGovern in Ohio early yesterday as the closest primary contest of 1972 headed toward a photo finish.

Even if Mr. Humphrey held his

15,000-vote lead for the 38 at-large delegates, Mr. McGovern was running strongly enough around the state to win a significant share of the 153 Ohio delegates to the Democratic National Convention Meanwhile, a Democratic Congressional hopeful filed suit in Federal Court to toss out the results and force, a new vote in Cuyahoga County (Cleveland), where a massive primary day snarl had complicated both balloting and tabulation. The suit was filed by Mr. Thomas Shaunessy, a candidate in Cuyahoga's 23rd Congressional District, as the returns from the county began to cut into Mr. Humphrey's already thin lead for the state's 38 at-large delegates to the Democratic National

India becoming big arms seller

By TREVOR DRIFTERG Jerusalem Post Correspondent NEW DELHI

INDIA is entering the world arms market as a seller in a big way. Sales . will be made to "friendly countries, according to Defence Production Minister Vidya Cheran Shukis, and an organization is to be set up in the public sector to handle exports. Sales of arms and ammunition in 1971 totalled a modest $3.6m. and among the buyers were countries in Latin America and West Asia, Ceylon and Malaysic. Several countries are interested in buying the HF-24, a supersonic fighter de signed and manufactured by a defence undertaking, Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd., at its plant in the South Indian city of Bangalore.

One south-east Asian country wanted to know whether it could buy MIG-21s, now manufactured in India under licence from the Soviet Union. About 70 per cent of the Mig-21s are made of Indian ma-terials. Some European countries are also reported to have shown interest in buying defence equipment, The Department of Defence Production operates the largest industrial network in India comprising 28 ordnance factories, one heavy vehicles factory, a plant for produc-ing freeze-dried meat, and eight limited companies to manufacture aircraft, electronic apparatuses, ma-chine tools earth-moving equipment and ships.

Full range

The Defence Department's total production of arms, ammunition and vehicles in the fiscal year ended March 1971 is estimated at $161m. The ordnance factories produce a full range of infantry equipment, from self-loading rifles to recolless 105-millimetre guns.

They produce 120-millimetre morters for the artiflery and howitzers for the mountain forces, both of Indian design. Air defence units are supplied with modern weapons for use against low-flying sircraft and with sophisticated radar.

Researchers of the Defence Department have developed an advanced type of field gun which will dis-place the 25-pounder now in use. The Government has sanctioned projects for manufacturing newly designed pistols and medium machine-

Sanction has also been given for the manufacture of high-grade spe-cial steels at Kanpur, in North India, to meet the requirements of defence This plant is expected to go into production in four or five years' time. Permission is being sought for the manufacture of Indian-designed armoured personnel carriers and self-propelled field guns.

More than meets the eye in Pimen's visit?

By DAVID LANDAU

Jerusalem Post Diplomatic Correspondent Russian Orthodox Church, to Israel sistant. later this month is raising speculation. Will he be here on a mission from Moscow, or carrying a mes-sage from the Kremlin rulers to the Israel Government? Will he perhaps be instructed to put but feelers, with a view to reconstituting the diplomatic relations which the Russians broke off in June 1967?

A prince of the Church is hardly the most likely candidate the Kremiin would pick for a delicate political mission; but it is by no means impossible. Patriarch Pimen is on excellent terms with the Kremlin rulers (he could scarcely carry out his duties otherwise) witness the recent attack on him for "time-serving" by Nobel Prize win-ner Alexander Solzhenytsin.

Russian pilgrims

His visit will be the first of a Russian Orthodox Patriarch since the Six Day War: his predecessor, Alexis, was here in 1965, and the Head of the Church's Foreign Relations Department spent ten days in Israel in November 1970. Then latter, the Metropolitan Nikodim, requested a meeting with Foreign Ministry officials. The discussion centrnever permitted this, but there was always the possibility of a change of policy.

The Israel officials pointed out that the absence of an Israel embassy in Moscow would make things difficult for potential pilgrims. The Metropolitan merely smiled and said the issue was beyond his precinct. Will his chief, Patriarch Pimen, have something more constructive to reply? The Foreign Ministry will be deciding during next week on its re-action to any possible overtures diaries."

ELSCINT 1971 OUTSTANDING EXPORTER

IN THE ELECTRONIC FIELD

ELSCINT Ltd. founded only 3-years ago, is already the largest firm in Israel devoted to the development and manufacture of scientific instruments for world markets.

Knowledgeable business observers conservatively forecast a 50% expansion each year for at least the next 5 years. Its team of scientists and engineers of international reputation, from 30 different countries of origin, has focused its effort upon unique, state-of-the-art designs in the growth markets of health, nuclear technology, and data-processing.

Already, ELSCINT is a multi-national company with subaldieries in France, Germany and the U.S.A. and exclusive marketing agreements in 30 other countries.

ELSCINT is relying upon its large, continuing expenditure for research and development to sustain it in a growth situation

This year alone, ELSCINT will apend almost $ 1-million to develop ideas and products for the future. With lower costs in israel, this sum will actually produce between $ 3.3-million to $ 4.4-million worth of research by U.S. standards. With good reason, ELSCINT looks forward to a bright future.

THE ACCIDENT EPIDEMIC

The World Health Organization (WHO) has devoted an entire issue of its monthly magazine to the subject of road accidents. Following are some of the points contained in the articles, contributed by authorities in various member countries of the U.N. sponsored organization.

"We drive as we behave," Duhamel has said. This idea has been widely accepted and is being increasingly stressed in the literature appearing on the subject.

Dr. A. Soubiran, President of the French Medical Automo-Club, parodying Schopenhauer, speaks of man, that tragic animal who has not retained sufficient instincts for safety and has not yet acquired enough reason to replace the instincts." He applies this description to motorized man, thus reminding the emotional and irrational aspects of our personality.

Cars provide a means of showing social or personal importance and demonstrate what modern urban man lacks

. power. What is this epidemic which attacks people in developed and developing countries and yet is regarded more fatalistically than the plague in the Middle Ages? Why do so many people shrug and say: "That's the price you have to pay for Road accidents are an epidemic spreading around the world and not one country is exempt. According to sobering statistics issued by insurance companies, the epidemic is likely to strike you too. If, like most people, you travel by automobile, the changes are that hereas the property of the changes are that hereas the property of the changes are that hereas the property of the changes are that hereas are the property of the pro the chances are that before you have driven — or have been driven — for 20 years you will be involved in a traffic accident.

The U.S. every 25th vehicle that comes off the assembly line injures or kills a pedestrian during the period of its

Estimates of alcoholic factors in accidents range from one half to two thirds of all fatal crashes, and this does not include pedestrians who were drunk.

© Comparisons regarding road accidents in various countries are notoriously tricky, and one of the tasks of the World Health Organization (WHO) is to achieve better international comparability in health and accident statistics.

All efforts to cut down on accidents will cost money. In fact, safety, like health, involves great expenditures. It is up to the public to insist that all available resources are exploited in the battle for road safety.

DOCTOR'S unchecked medical certificate as A DOCTOR'S unchecked medical certificate as to his patient's condition covers a large range of occurrences in modern life, mostly minor in importance. Such a certificate will excuse a child's attendance at school, an employee's rare failure to report for work, a passenger's necessary extension of a time-limited airline excursion ticket, and even the first two occasions of being summoned as a witness or a principal in a summoned as a witness or a principal in a

Let the matter escalate in importance, however, and society's courtesy to the registered professional fades. The most reputable practitioner will have his opinion cross-checked by an insurance company's medical consultants where the patient's claim exceeds a certain minimum.

A personnel manager will become suspicious of too-frequent double certificates issued during the fishing season from a doctor he knows to be dropped because Mr. Kafka's physician feels his patient is not fit to stand trial.

Mr. Kafka is getting on in years and it may very well be that his symptoms are disturbing. Age and stress are a wearing combination. Even unprepared schoolchildren can exhibit actual fever the morning of the feared algebra exam. Canadians will remember hockey hero Maurice. Richard's acute and chronic leg cramp when he was one goal away from breaking the all-time was one goal away from breaking the all-time scoring record. The pain can be acute and real to the man in crisis. Diagnosticians, unaware of psychosomatic mysteries, can be genuinely

It may be that the symptoms are unmistakable and Mr. Kafka would be very upset, even stricken, during the course of a long trial.

Or, it may simply be that Mr. Kafka and his doctor are on very good terms, and the certificate is a light favour to have rendered a friend. After all, there is no money currently at issue, and the case isn't the kind of thing that's terribly important to any one any more.

The medical certificate has saved everyone a lot of nuisance and bother. Now no one in the wide world need ever recall the career of S.S. Capt. Kafka, the cities of Radom and Savevta and the murder of their 250,000 Jews.

Among the witnesses who were to have appeared is Tuvia Friedman, who heads the War Crimes Documentation Centre in Haifa. He and other members of his family escaped Kafka's chitches. He plans to demonstrate with other Radom survivors later this month outside the German Embassy in Tel Aviv. to protest against the decision to cancel the trial.

The gas distribution contractors in Jerusalem have gone another contractor, as they had demanded.

both of whose tanks are empty, and also hotels, restaurants and other large gas users, we will supply gas in Jerusalem directly from the "Pazgaz" warehouse, Derech Beit Lechem,

At this point, the service will be extended only to users who have used up the gas in both their tanks.

"Pazgaz" Jerusalem: Tel. 221331; evenings and at night: Tel. 221334.

We will send a technician to disconnect your tanks; you will then have to bring the empty tanks to our warehouse, where you will receive two full tanks. After you have brought them home, we will send a technician to re-connect Users who obtain gas directly from the "Pazgaz" warehouse will pay only the price of the gas, without having to pay the contractors' delivery fee, which amounts to IL3.90 per two ordinary tanks. In other words, the price for two full tanks of gas will be only IL16.60 instead of the regular price of IL20.50.

We hope that this strange strike will soon end, and

Mr. Zadok said that public criticism of the report was legitimate, but attacks on the integrity of the Commission members themselves was both wrong and unacceptable.

Dr. Dinstein, he noted, had been cleared of all moral blame and was also found to have conformed to the norms of public ethics. The Deputy Minister, however, had been found responsible for not ensuring a constant flow of information from the company to the people who should have received it. This will have to be corrected, as will other shortcomings found to exist with regard to the running of Government companies, he said,

Dr. Meir Avizohar (Ind.) sald the Witkon Report had left many doubts in its wake, and had not calmed public anxiety. The public had every right to criticize the in-quiry commission's findings and conclusions, he said, despite talk of the "street" raising its voice, The inquiry commission's handling of Mr. Friedman's transactions in drilling equipment, and of his foreign currency deals, was strange," Dr. Avizohar said. How could the director of a State cor-poration make use of funds deposited abroad, and earmarked for a contribution to the Defence Ministry, to earn profits for himself, without the Defence Ministry's knowledge?

The Report should not have downplayed Dr. Dinstein's administrative shortcomings, because - after all - administration was his sole responsibility. Dr. Dinstein need not be put in dock as an accused; but "changes in appointments are heal-thy for the public and the national economy," Dr. Avizohar said, in a thinly-veiled call for the Deputy Finance Minister's resignation.

Mr. Shmuel Tamir (Free Centre) said the big question was whether the Netivei Neft affair would end with Mordechal Friedman, or whether other responsible people would have to face the consequences. Surely the Treasury should have asked what reasons Friedman had for ham Zeisel, fell to quarrelling over a half, without a salary? TEL AVIV. - Income tax and police investigators yesterday morning paid an unexpected visit to the home of Mr. Mordechai Friedman, former general manager of Netivei Neff, in Zahala, north of here.

The investigators questioned Mr. Friedman and looked through four cartons which held personal documents and pictures of Mr. Friedman. Even though the investigators had a search warrant signed by Tel Aviv Magistrate's Court Judge Yosef Megory-Cohen, it is understood they did not search Mr. Friedman's

The investigation comes in the wake of the Attorney-General's statement to the Cabinet on Sunday that he was turning over certain aspects of the Netivel Neft affair caused by inflation. to the police. The Attorney-General, Mr. Meir Shamgar, outlined to newsmen two areas which he thought required investigation; the 'Bloomfield episode," and Mr. Friedman's currency deals abroad (the $97,000").

The "Bloomfield episode" concerns the purchase by Mr. Friedman of the Continental oil company from Messrs, Bloomfield of Canada in the 1960s. Did he buy it in 1965 for $385,000, as he first told the Witkon Commission, or in 1962 for $70,000, as Messrs. Bloomfield subsequently attested? After the evidence of Messrs, Bloomfield, Mr. explain that both stories were correct: a company had been set up in the Bahamas in 1962 to take up a $70,000 option on the equipment. Mr. Friedman was not a partner that Bahaman company; he bought the equipment from it, and from Messrs. Bloomfield, three years later for the higher figure.

The majority of the Commission conceded that the explanation was feasible, but added that it was peculiar. They said they would not investigate it at that late stage of the inquiry, but urged the relevant law-enforcement authorities to do so if they felt the need.

TEL AVIV. - A fire yesterday morning at the Shalom Tower complex here completely destroyed the auna and gymnasium of the Tower hotel. The fire, which came less than 15 months after another fire gutted the second floor of the Tower's Shalom Department Store, was confined to the hotel's eighth floor. There were no casualties,

The flames were first noticed at 11 a.m., and the area was cleared without panic. The two fire brigade units sent to the scene spent three hours fighting the blaze, and manag-ed to confine it to the sauna and the adjoining gymnasium.
